

I strongly object to Sinclair Broadcasting decision to air the partisan documentary "Stolen Honor."

This company is not like a privately owned newspaper. They are stewards of the public airwaves. As member of the public I'm disgusted that they would choose to use this trust to further a partisan political agenda.

This a good example of how big media conglomerates can stifle other voices and gain immense, and unfair, political leverage for their owners.

I strongly urge you to take steps to stop Sinclair and to support media ownership guidelines that prevent consolidation of media ownership. Our democracy thrives on a multitude of voices being heard, not just those of the few control huge corporations.
